

2019 Annual Report

A Message from Family Reach

Dear Friends of Family Reach,

We bring you this annual report at a very interesting and surreal time in our world's history. And while these types of letters are meant to reflect back on the previous year, it feels hollow to do that while amidst this new reality with COVID-19.

Then I realized there's a very strong link between what we accomplished in 2019 and today's new reality: community. This is how Family Reach was built, how we grew to where we are today, and why we are so well-equipped to navigate through this crisis that faces us all, especially the cancer community.

We spent years developing our Financial Treatment Program which went into full effect in 2019. A collection of solutions to address the financial burdens of cancer that includes education, navigation, financial planning, and direct financial assistance, the program meets patients wherever they are in their cancer journey. Little did we know these solutions would play an even more important role when a new level of danger, anxiety, and financial barriers were introduced by a worldwide health pandemic.

What's more, we officially launched our LiFT Network, a collection of like-minded nonprofits from around the country collaborating together to become a united front. When uncertain economic times threaten to destroy many nonprofits working on shoestring budgets, the LiFT Network is there to ensure we are stronger together.

In 2019 we developed new measurement and evaluation techniques to further drive our solutions and maximize our impact for families facing cancer. Given where we are today, those efforts are helping us navigate the most uncertain of times in a responsible, intentional, and highly effective way.

These solutions were not created because of the COVID-19 crisis, but they were made possible by our community. All your support in 2019 positioned us to have a positive impact, and we were prepared to pivot to meet the needs of the cancer community during COVID-19 without hesitation. Our community is the strongest it has ever been, and we have all of you to thank for that.

With gratitude,
Carla Tardif

Overview of the Financial Toxicity of Cancer

---

More than 15 million people live with cancer in the US and up to 73% of adult cancer patients will experience some form of financial toxicity due to a cancer diagnosis.

Many patients with cancer experience financial loss

Up to 85% of cancer patients stop work during their initial treatment and absences ranging up to 6 months

42% of insured cancer patients report a significant or catastrophic financial burden

Financial loss during treatment can negatively affect access to care

29% of patients skip doctors appointments

38% postpone or do not fill drug prescriptions

Patients use care altering strategies to save money - 31% cut oral medications in half

Overview of the Financial Toxicity of Cancer

---

Basic Needs

1 in 3 families with a child in active cancer treatment are unable to afford basic needs

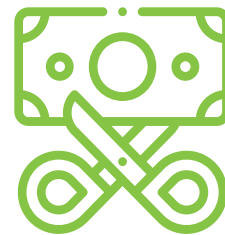

66% of households in foreclosure identify medical costs and debt as a direct cause of their home foreclosure

Well-Being and Health

Cancer patients are 2.65x more likely to go bankrupt than people without cancer

Patients who file for bankruptcy have a 79% greater risk of early mortality

Children from high-poverty areas relapse earlier than children in low-poverty areas and have a lower chance of survival

Overcoming Financial Toxicity Through the Financial Treatment Program

Leading the fight against the financial toxicity of cancer, Family Reach developed the solution-oriented Financial Treatment Program (FTP) to reach patients with support before they hit critical financial breaking points.

1. Financial Education

Family Reach's education materials introduce patients, caregivers and hospital staff to the financial terms, timelines, and resources they need to know.

2. Resource Navigation

Family Reach Resource Navigators connect patients to resources that can reduce costs associated with cancer treatment. These resources include in-kind services such as Hilton Rewards for temporary lodging near treatment centers and Zipcar access for reliable transportation.

3. Financial Planning

Developed in partnership with the Foundation for Financial Planning (FFP) and the Financial Planning Association (FPA), Family Reach's Financial Planning for Cancer program pairs cancer patients and their families with pro-bono Certified Financial Planner™ professionals to help with money management during cancer treatment.

4. Financial Assistance

Family Reach provides direct financial assistance for eligible pediatric, young adult, and adult cancer patients. These grants cover non-medical, everyday living expenses, such as rent or mortgage payments, utilities, gas or other transportation expenses, and groceries.

How the FTP Helped Pam

Pam Harvey is a 51-year-old single mom who lives with her adopted 10-year-old daughter, Deleiyah, in Shaker Heights, Ohio. After an ER visit last year, she was diagnosed with stage IV colon cancer. She had to leave her job as both a teacher and nanny, and after a year went by, found herself in financial distress. Family Reach was able to provide her with two months of rent, which enabled her to buy a used car to get to treatment. Family Reach also connected her to financial planner Charles Boulware. He referred her to a pro-bono estate planning service, helped organize the family's finances, and create a spending plan.

"I like being financially stable, and I don't like asking people for things that I need. I needed both financial assistance and financial planning, so that really worked out well. Everything I've learned, I'll keep near and dear to my heart. I'll keep my finances going and saving money because you never know what could happen."

The LiFT Network

To reach more patients with the Financial Treatment Program, Family Reach is proud to share its resources with nonprofit members of our LiFT Network. Across the country, hundreds of nonprofits are dedicated to supporting families with cancer. The LiFT Network unites this community in the fight against the financial burden of cancer, allowing like-minded nonprofits to scale their efforts and extend their impact.

In 2019, the LiFT Network:

- Served 575 families with the Financial Treatment Program
- Partnered with 123 hospitals nationwide
- Launched an online community to foster collaboration, share resources and best practices, and enable research and data collection
- Gathered in Boston for our inaugural LiFT Network Conference for a day of examining and identifying new and undiscovered solutions to complex issues facing our patients and hospital partners

Network Members Coming Together for Families:

Mayson (left) is a 1-year-old boy who was diagnosed with an optic pathway glioma in April 2019. Mayson lives in Willis, TX with his parents and 5 siblings. He receives treatment at Texas Children’s Hospital, over 50 miles from home. Mayson’s family was connected to Family Reach after draining their savings in order to stay afloat through a grueling 10 months of treatment. The family had experienced a drastic decrease in income while incurring costs for travel, and were struggling to keep up with their mortgage.

Family Reach turned to its LiFT Network members to expand assistance for Mayson’s family. A Family Reach grant was combined with support from Addi’s Faith and the Anthony Rizzo Family Foundation. Together, the LiFT Network prevented foreclosure on the family’s house. Mayson’s father returned to work in February 2020. The LiFT Network filled a brief but critical financial gap that would have left the family without a home. Instead, with the Network’s support, Mayson’s family remained focused on his treatment with a safe, stable home to heal.
